

BERCLAIR WINS IT

TENNESSEE DERBY GOES TO DR. McLEAN'S BROWN BEAST.

Day as Ideal One and a Crowd of Nine Thousand People on Hand—Lady Inez and Ben Eder Strong Favorites, With Berclair and Rockwood Next in Demand—Starting Machine Dispensed With in the Great Event—Berclair Jumps to the Front and Stays—Time, 1:55 3/4, the Tennessee Derby Record.

Memphis, Tenn., April 9.—The Tennessee derby was won today by Dr. McLean's brown gelding, Berclair. The day was an ideal one for racing and the crowd numbered about 9,000. The Hot Springs stable's pair Lady Inez and Ben Eder, were held as strong favorites, the prevailing odds being 4 to 1 on. Frontier and McLean's entry, Berclair and Rockwood were next in demand with 3 1/2 to 1. While liberal odds were offered against Cotton King, Damien and Gretchen S., who composed the field.

The new starting machine was used in the first and second events with fair success, but the owners of the derby candidates requested Starter Caldwell to send their horses away with his flag, in the old familiar style. The start was a good one. Berclair immediately jumped to the front and, riding in faultless style, he remained there to the end, winning without whip or spur, by a length and a half. The time, 1:55 3/4, is the Tennessee derby record, the best previous performance being that of Pandango, 1:56 1/4, in last year's race. Summaries:

HE SWEARS IT

Does Leslie Bush, Asst. School Land Commissioner, of Guthrie, Oklahoma.

Territory of Oklahoma, ss. County of Logan.

Personally appeared before me, Wm. Blincoe, a notary public, in and for said county, on the above date, Leslie Bush, who first being duly sworn deposes and says: That for about three years prior to September, 1893, he has continually dropped out until he had become almost bald; that in September, 1895, he began to take the free treatment for baldness furnished by the Guthrie Land Commissioner, and in a short time thereafter his hair ceased to fall out and began to thicken; that he continued the treatment daily for thirty days, and that since that time his hair has continued to thicken and grow very fast, until now it is almost as thick and vigorous as it ever was.

LESLIE BUSH.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 13th day of February, 1896.

(Seal.) WM. BLINCOE.

My commission expires August 24th, 1896.

Nothing is impossible. A few weeks ago you would have looked at the idea of taking a photograph through a brick wall—yet this very thing is being done repeatedly. You doubt that anything is so great as to have your hair grow again? Simply because you have never seen it done, or because, perhaps, you have been deceived time and time again by other (so-called) restorers. Mr. Bush, whose affidavit is given above, had no more faith than you have. His experience is only one in a thousand.

You need not take our word alone. Write for the Danderine Herald and read what hundreds say.

London, April 10.—The Daily News says this morning with reference to the coexistence with which President Faure of France was welcomed at the Auteuil races (the occasion of a great gathering of fashionable people on Sunday says:

"As society has decided to make this honor for the president, he has solved not to visit the horse show. The rich people's excuse for attacking Faure is that he keeps M. Bourgeois in office in spite of the senate. This excuse is a fiction. The president has no intention of attacking M. Bourgeois as the author of the income tax, which is the real ground of the objection to him."

BLOWS HIMSELF UP

JOHN BROOKS, A TEXAN, SAVES THE HANGMAN A JOB.

Mollie Brooks and Her Lover, Whose Name is Worrell, Are in Act to Elope, When, Just as They Are Boarding the Train, the Girl's Father Appears—He Shoots and Instantly Kills His Daughter and Seriously Wounds Worrell—Ends His Own Life With Dynamite in a Horrible Manner.

Houston, Tex., April 9.—At Midland, Tex., a few minutes after 2 o'clock this morning, John Brooks shot and killed his daughter, Mollie Brooks, seriously wounded her sweetheart, A. C. Worrell, and then committed suicide.

Worrell and Miss Brooks were lovers and had made up their minds to marry, in opposition to the wishes of the young woman's father. When the northbound Central train, due here at 2:30 a. m., stopped at the station, the young people were there ready to get aboard and run away. Worrell helped Miss Brooks upon the first step of the platform, and just as she got up, her father, who stepped from the other side of the car, dropped upon her, shooting her through the right breast, the bullet passing through her body. She fell backward in the arms of her lover, with the words: "Oh, Arthur, father has killed me," and immediately expired.

As Worrell bent down to lay her on the platform, Brooks fired upon him under the rear of the ball, passing through his neck and making a serious and probable fatal wound. After the shooting, Brooks, who has been employed at the rock quarry of Green & Olive, went to the quarry and tried to borrow a pick, but could not get one. He then went to the powder magazine, secured a box of dynamite and, going away about 100 yards, sat down upon it and applied a match. A terrific explosion followed, blowing him in pieces, not enough fragments being gathered up to fill a cigar box.

BEFORE THE NAVAL COMMITTEE

O'Connell and Gompers Call Attention to Navy Yard Employees.

Washington, April 9.—James O'Connell of Chicago, grand master of the International Order of Machinists, and Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, today urged the committee on naval affairs to make an investigation of the treatment of machinists in navy yards. A resolution has been introduced by Representative Oney charging that members of the labor organizations are discriminated against by the management of navy yards, and particularly in the Brooklyn yard. The two speakers represented that Mr. Oney's charges are true and that the management of the yards is tyrannical and the system of appointment manipulative. They also advocated the passage of Mr. Phillips' bill, commencing the eight-hour law and Mr. Southwick's bill prohibiting the transportation of the product of convict labor from one state to another.

TO DO UNTO OTHERS

SUB-COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS HAS A BILL READY.

Reciprocity Measure Which Gathers Up the Various Measures Hitherto Proposed To Bring Other Nations to a Golden Rule Frame of Mind by Giving Each a Taste of Its Own Tariff Bait—Incidentally It Will Head Off the Ill Effects to the United States of Mr. Chamberlain's Customs Union Scheme.

Washington, April 9.—The sub-committee of the committee on ways and means which has been conducting an investigation into the results of the recent reciprocity policy of the government has agreed to report to the full committee, as a substitute for the large number of measures that have been proposed in congress during this session relating to reciprocity and retaliation, a bill which was offered by Mr. Hopkins in the house of representatives today.

The bill comprises five sections under the caption of "a bill to increase and equalize the trade of the United States with foreign nations by the negotiation of reciprocal commercial arrangements."

It differs materially from the old reciprocity provision of the McKinley act in that it does not offer lower rates than those now established to nations entering upon the agreement, but simply relieves them from the imposition of additional duties.

WHAT THE BILL PROPOSES.

The first section recites that for the purpose of equalizing the trade of the United States with foreign countries, the president is authorized and directed as soon as may be after the passage of the act, to enter into negotiations with the several classes of countries, with the view to the arrangement of commercial agreements in which reciprocity and equal treatment of concessions shall be secured in favor of the products of the farm, forests, fisheries, mines and manufactures of the United States. These countries are those who export more to us than we send to them; those whose exports are admitted free of duty here; those whose exports are admitted into the United States at a lower average rate than they impose on our exports to them; those who impose higher duties on our products than they impose on those of like character coming from other countries; and those that impose unjust, excessive and obstructive restrictions upon imports from the United States. The second section of the bill gives any such arrangement that may be made by the president the force of law, upon publication. The third section provides that if any country is included in the list of the classes referred to enter into a reciprocal arrangement proposed by the president, making such concessions as he shall deem equivalent to our tariff acts since January 1, 1790, shall immediately imply to the imports from such country. The fourth section of the bill provides a means by which any country on which the excessive duties lie may secure their remission by making concessions deemed sufficient by the president, and entering into an agreement. The last section provides that the act shall go into effect immediately upon its passage.

HOPKINS EXPLAINS.

In explanation of his bill Mr. Hopkins said tonight:

"The bill is intended to anticipate the possible adoption of the policy proposed for Great Britain by Mr. Chamberlain, as well as to meet the objections that are being continually offered by other governments in the form of high tariffs and restrictive regulations against the importation of our merchandise."
